To whom it may concern,

This letter is in reference to Mr. Joseph Neurauter. I have known and worked with Joseph since 2004. I am the co-founder of the Canadian based, international youth humanitarian charity called Live Different (www.livedifferent.com) . Since 2004 we have hosted and led over 6000 volunteers on humanitarian and community building trips in different parts of the developing world. One of our main areas of work and influence has been on the north coast of Dominican Republic, in the province of Puerto Plata.

One of the first people I was introduced to in the area was Joseph. During the first three years of our time bringing young adults from all over North America and Europe to Dominican Republic, he played a strategic and invaluable role in helping us to create successful logistics and operations for our teams. His management expertise and insights helped to keep us from making some critical mistakes during those early days of our work there. For that, I will always be grateful. He also connected us with some key stakeholders in the community that helped us identify where to best start in our focus for the area.

Joseph has an evident passion for excellence and service in the local community and I had the chance to watch that grow in the subsequent years of working alongside of him. His leadership in our community here in Dominican Republic has extended to creating and facilitating sports clubs that have helped young men at a physical level, as well as providing extensive mentoring and community partnerships in vulnerable neighbourhoods in the area. He has a great sense of understanding how to both recognize what needs to be done and attract the right people to make it happen.

It ‘s an honour to be able to give him this reference and I wish him all the best as he now takes that passion and commitment to community leadership back to Canada.

Kind regards,

Christal Earle
